A vertical strip of a calendar, likely from a desk or wall calendar, showing three months: May (M), June (JUN), and September (SEP). The months are printed in large, bold, black capital letters on white rectangular tiles. The tiles are arranged vertically, with May at the top, June in the middle, and September at the bottom. The edges of the tiles are slightly irregular, suggesting they are part of a physical calendar.1933
